MEETING ALL YOUR ADVERTISING NEEDS

As part of the oldest university press in the United States, the Johns Hopkins University Press Journals Division provides advertisers with a wealth of distinguished products to choose from. Since the addition of our online advertising option in 2013, we have a full suite available for your needs.

You can still place advertisements in your choice of 99 journals, but also have the opportunity to promote your products and events alongside the same content within Project MUSE®, the collection of online journals accessible by institutions around the world. We offer online ads on the home page of JHUP journals within Project MUSE®.

This platform provides access to millions of readers across the globe in a flexible and convenient format. Students and researchers will be just one click away from more information about your book, journal, or conference on pages accessible without a Project MUSE subscription.

You can expect the same level of professionalism and support whether you reserve advertising space in one of our printed journals or alongside the Project MUSE® content. Contact us at journalsadvertising@jh.edu.

How to Reserve an Ad

Visit us online at

Online Advertising

Online advertising reservations are placed on a month-to-month basis. All online ads are due on the 20th of the month prior to the reservation.

ONLINE ADVERTISING PLACEMENT

Journal Home Page

ADVERTISING GUIDELINES

Advertising is accepted in most Johns Hopkins University Press print journals and online on the Project MUSE pages of most JHUP-published and distributed journals.

Ad Content

All copy is subject to publisher's approval. The publisher reserves the right to deny any advertisement if artwork or content is deemed inappropriate.

Specifications

For specifications including details on file formats, images, fonts, and color, please consult our website:

www.press.jhu.edu/journals/advertising/advertising-terms-policies-and-discounts. Advertisements which do not meet these requirements may be subject to a $50.00 fee to correct problems.

Cancellations

Advertisers will be charged $25.00 per page/online ad for ads cancelled or received after the deadline.

Payment Terms

Payment is due 30 days from invoice date. Prepayment may be required from individuals or first-time advertisers. Invoice and tear sheets will be sent to the advertiser upon publication. Advertisers must pay for a complete copy of a journal where their advertisement appears. Invoice, screen shots, and statistics (impressions and click-throughs) will be sent to the advertiser within 30 days after an online ad is removed.

Print Advertising

Advertisements are available in the back matter of a journal and, in selected journals, on the inside and back covers. PDF files are required. Ad files should be submitted as composite PDFs v.1.3 (Acrobat 4.0 compatible) and ideally able to conform to ISO 15930 file format standards: PDF/X-1a:2001. The ISO standards are available as a preset in at least one popular page layout software.

Images: Halftones (photos) should be scanned at a resolution of 266-300 dpi; a combination of line art and halftone at 500-900 dpi; line art, 900-1200 dpi. All images should be embedded.

Fonts: All fonts should be embedded. Type 1 fonts are strongly recommended. No crop marks, placement information, registration marks, or slug lines in the file.

Color: Supply ads in black and white format unless color is available as an option for a particular journal. Avoid all color functions such as ICC profiles.

For detailed guidelines for digital ads, visit our website at www.press.jhu.edu/journals/advertising/advertising-terms-policies-and-discounts to see The Sheridan Press Guidelines. Advertisers will be notified if there is a problem with received ads. An additional fee of $50.00 will be charged if the resolution of the problem involves JHUP services. The Johns Hopkins University Press will not be held responsible for the reproduction quality of any ads that do not meet these specifications. If you have any questions or are unsure if your ad meets these specs, please contact the Journals Advertising Coordinator at press.jhu.edu/journals/advertising.

Discounts

Advertisers are eligible for the following discounts:

Multiple Insertion Discounts

- 10% discount when placing two or more different ads in a volume of a single journal.
- 30% discount when placing the same ad a second time within a volume.

Agency Discounts

- 15% off ad rate (other charges are non-commissionable).

Discounts for Books Reviewed:

- Publishers whose books are reviewed in a journal receive a 10% discount for placing any ad in one issue of that journal.

Online Advertising

Advertisers may place ads on the eligible journal home pages within Project MUSE®. Ad positions will be sold on a monthly basis with all contracts beginning on the first of the month. Only one advertisement placement is available per journal. The placement is shown on Page 4.

- File Types: Ads should be saved as web-ready files. Acceptable file types are GIF, PNG, and JPG.
- File Size: The maximum file size is 30K (400 x 200 ad).
- Animation: Recommended animation length for all ads is 15 seconds.

Advertisers will be notified if there is a problem with received ads. An additional fee of $50.00 will be charged if the resolution of the problem involves JHUP services. The Johns Hopkins University Press will not be held responsible for the reproduction quality of any ads

THE CEA CRITIC

An official journal of the College English Association, The CEA Critic publishes scholarly works that, through "close reading" methodology, examine the texts of fiction, poetry, drama, nonfiction, and film studied on the college level. Bridging traditional academic scholarship with practical pedagogy, the journal encompasses a broad range of interests gathered traditionally under English studies: literature, women's studies, speech, composition, minority studies, creative writing, popular culture, film studies, technical communication, and ESL (English as a Second Language). By focusing on the contextual rather than the theoretical aspects of works, The CEA Critic provides a refreshingly sharp academic and practical perspective for teachers and scholars alike.

CUSP Late 19th-/Early 20th-Century Cultures

Cusp: Late 19th-/Early 20th-Century Cultures is a new home for field-defining scholarship on the works, authors, artists, problems, and phenomena that defined the dynamic period from the late 19th century to the early 20th century. Cusp encourages interdisciplinary scholarship, including (but not limited to) work on literature, the visual arts and cinema, theatre studies, intellectual history, publishing, periodical studies, and music. All movements and genres are featured in the articles and reviews on its pages, from detective fiction to journalism, aestheticism to anarchism, realism to Vorticism. Our journal welcomes new perspectives on canonical authors, artists, and events of the period, as well as hitherto marginalized voices. We also strive to center a more global or transnational approach to the period. Contributions that explore literature and culture from across the globe, from Great Britain, Ireland, and North America to Europe, the Middle East, South America, Africa, and Australasia, are an essential element in the journal's contents.

JOURNAL OF LATE ANTIQUITY

Journal of Late Antiquity (JLA) is the award-winning first international English-language journal dedicated to the study of Late Antiquity writ large. The Journal provides a venue for multi-disciplinary coverage of all the methodological, geographical, and chronological facets of Late Antiquity. All of Late Antiquity will be represented — from the late and post-classical world up to the Carolingian period, and including the late Roman, western European, Byzantine, Sassanid, and Islamic worlds, ca. 250-800 CE. JLA is essential, not only as a space for scholarship dealing with practical and theoretical issues, but, in particular, to bridge the gap between literary and material culture scholarship. One of the primary goals of the journal is to highlight the status of Late Antiquity as a discrete historical period in its own right. JLA honors include the Association of American Publishers PROSE Award for Professional and Scholarly Excellence as Best New Journal in the Social Sciences & Humanities for 2010, and Honorable Mention/Runner-Up for Best New Journal in 2009 by the Council of Editors of Learned Journals (CELJ). JLA also is a two-time winner (2013 and 2019) of the Codex Award, given once per year by the Council of Editors of Learned Journals in recognition of the best journal on any subject before 1500.

PERSPECTIVES IN BIOLOGY AND MEDICINE

Perspectives in Biology and Medicine, an interdisciplinary scholarly journal whose readers include biologists, physicians, students, and scholars, publishes essays that place important biological or medical subjects in broader scientific, social, or humanistic contexts. These essays span a wide range of subjects, from biomedical topics such as neurobiology, genetics, and evolution, to topics in ethics, history, philosophy, and medical education and practice. The editors encourage an informal style that has literary merit and that preserves the warmth, excitement, and color of the biological and medical sciences.

PHILOSOPHY, PSYCHIATRY, & PSYCHOLOGY

Philosophy, Psychiatry, & Psychology (PPP) focuses on the area of overlap between philosophy and abnormal psychology and psychiatry. PPP seeks to: (a) enhance the effectiveness of psychiatrists, clinical psychologists, and other mental health care workers as practitioners, teachers, and researchers by illuminating the philosophical issues embedded in these activities; and (b) advance philosophical theory by making the phenomena of psychiatry and clinical psychology more accessible to philosophers. The Editors seek original contributions of a conceptual, empirical, or historical nature. In addition to manuscripts from its core disciplines of philosophy, psychiatry, and abnormal psychology, PPP welcomes pertinent contributions from related fields such as general medicine, neuroscience, social science, anthropology, nursing, law, and theology. Occasionally, the journal publishes a "philosophical case conference" on a particular problem in clinical practice.

Philosophy, Psychiatry, & Psychology is the official publication of the Association for the Advancement of Philosophy and Psychiatry (AAPP).

Published 4 times per year in March, June, September, and December for the Association for the Advancement of Philosophy and Psychiatry. Volume 30 (2023). P-ISSN: 1071-6076 / E-ISSN: 1086-3303.

POE STUDIES History, Theory, Interpretation

Poe Studies: History, Theory, Interpretation provides a forum for dialogue about Edgar Allan Poe's life and writings, and about the cultural and material contexts that shaped the production and reception of his work. The editors wish to define "Poe studies" broadly—to include articles that engage the period in which Poe wrote, writers with whom he was affiliated or whom he inspired, theoretical and philosophical issues raised by his work, and artistic movements associated with him, such as gothicism, detective fiction, symbolism, and metafiction. The journal invites submissions of original articles and notes, welcomes work grounded in a wide range of theoretical and critical perspectives, and encourages inquiries proposing submissions and projects.

SEL STUDIES IN ENGLISH LITERATURE 1500-1900

SEL focuses on four fields of British literature in rotating, quarterly issues: English Renaissance, Tudor and Stuart Drama, Restoration and Eighteenth Century, and Nineteenth Century. The editors select learned, readable papers that contribute significantly to the understanding of British literature from 1500 to 1900. SEL is well known for the commissioned omnibus review of recent studies in the field that is included in each issue. In a single volume, readers might find an argument for attributing a previously unknown work to Shakespeare or de-attributing a famous work from Milton, a study of the connections between class and genre in the Restoration Theater, an interdisciplinary exploration of the art of the miniature and Fielding's novels, or a theoretical exposition of the "material sublime" in Romantic poetry written by women.

THE SEWANEE REVIEW

Founded in 1892 by the teacher and critic William Peterfield Trent, the Sewanee Review is America's oldest continuously published literary quarterly. Many of the twentieth century's great writers, including T. S. Eliot, William Faulkner, Eudora Welty, Wallace Stevens, Saul Bellow, Katherine Anne Porter, Marianne Moore, and Ezra Pound, have appeared in the magazine. SR also has a long tradition of cultivating emerging talent: we published excerpts of Cormac McCarthy and Flannery O'Connor's first novels, and the early poetry of Robert Penn Warren, Sylvia Plath, Robert Lowell, and Christian Wiman. "Whatever the new literature turns out to be," wrote editor Allen Tate in 1944, "it will be the privilege of the Sewanee Review to print its share of it, to comment on it, and to try to understand it." The mission remains unchanged.

In 2017 the novelist Adam Ross (Mr. Peanut, Ladies and Gentlemen) succeeded George Core as editor of The Sewanee Review. Under Ross's tenure the magazine was redesigned for the first time in seventy-three years, by the book designers Peter Mendelsund and Oliver Munday, and SR began to publish online as well as in print. 2017 also marked The Sewanee Review's 125th year of publication, and Fall 2017 marked the magazine's five-hundredth issue. The magazine's redesign and recent issues have been covered by The New York Times, the Nashville Scene, the Memphis Commercial-Appeal, Poets & Writers, Chapter 16, and elsewhere.

SHAKESPEARE BULLETIN

Shakespeare Bulletin is a peer-reviewed quarterly journal which publishes articles at the cutting edge of Shakespearean and early modern performance studies and theater history. Since its early days as the publication of the New York Shakespeare Society (from 1980) and its incorporation of the Shakespeare on Film Newsletter edited by Kenneth Rothwell and Bernice Kliman in 1992, Shakespeare Bulletin has grown into the leading journal of early modern performance studies. It is a distinguishing feature of this journal that it welcomes scholarship on the full range of plays not only by Shakespeare but also by other early modern dramatists. The journal also publishes theater, film, and book reviews, providing a record of performance and scholarship in a variety of media throughout the world.

The journal is edited by an international team of scholars and is based in the Shakespeare and Performance program at Mary Baldwin University, Virginia.

Published 4 times per year in March, June, September, and December. Volume 40-41 (2022-2023). P-ISSN: 0748-2558/E-ISSN: 1931-1427.

SOCIAL RESEARCH: An International Quarterly

Social Research has its origins in the New School's historic effort to provide intellectuals safe haven as the Nazis began to threaten Jewish scholars prior to the onset of WWII. This group of rescued scholars, known as the University in Exile, launched Social Research: An International Quarterly of the Political and Social Sciences in 1934 on the core conviction that every true university must have its own distinct public voice. Today, that profound voice resonates in each issue, as multidisciplinary scholars, writers, and experts take on contentious social issues, countries in transition, and phenomena that seem ripe for exploration. Periodic special issues are devoted to the proceedings of the journal's renowned conferences at the New School.

SPIRITUS: A Journal of Christian Spirituality

Spiritus covers a wide range of disciplines within the field of religious studies: history, philosophy, theology, and psychology. Ecumenical in its approach, Spiritus explores the connections between spirituality and cultural analysis — including literary and artistic expression, social activism, and spiritual practice. Filled with lively insightful articles, reviews, and new translations of important texts, Spiritus appeals not only to scholars and academics, but also to general readers such as pastors, practitioners, and those in the helping professions. The journal's goal is to promote research in the field of Christian spirituality while fostering creative dialogue with non-Christian traditions. Spiritus is sponsored by the Society for the Study of Christian Spirituality (SSCS).

STUDIES IN AMERICAN FICTION

Studies in American Fiction (SAF) publishes reviews and articles on a wide temporal range in American fiction: from neglected and rediscovered early U.S. writers (Susanna Rowson, Leonora Sansay, James Hall) to the emergent authors of the present day (Katherine Dunn, Ana Menéndez, Monique Truong, Toni Morrison). Expect its refereed articles to feature not only major canonical works by Charles Brockden Brown, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Edith Wharton, and Thomas Pynchon, but scholarly analyses of contemporary Chicano literature and Harlem Renaissance fiction. Engendering conversations about forms of writing that do not succumb to traditional genres, SAF interrogates and redraws both generic and geographic boundaries. SAF is the only journal encompassing American literature from the North American colonial past to the United States’ globalized present.

TAPA

TAPA is the official research publication of the Society for Classical Studies (SCS), and seeks to reflect the range of scholarship undertaken by members of the profession. It accepts submissions that consider any aspect of the Greek and Roman worlds, their interactions with other ancient societies, and their resonances through time. TAPA is committed, in addition, to furthering discussion of urgent disciplinary questions, including issues of access, outreach and pedagogy, and invites contributions that address the role of classical studies in the modern world. Such submissions particularly complement the themed section of each number, Paragraphoi, for which the Editors may also solicit contributions on topics of current interest. The Presidential Address delivered at the previous SCS annual meeting is a regular feature.

TAPA was founded in 1869 as Transactions of the American Philological Association. Since 2014, when the American Philological Association changed its name to the Society for Classical Studies, the official name of the journal has been TAPA.

THEORY & EVENT

Theory & Event is a journal of political theory with an international editorial board, authors, and readership. It welcomes theoretical interventions, interpretations, and engagements with political events, institutions, cultures, and issues as they unfold. It provides a forum attractive to intellectuals who work at the intersections of political theory, cultural theory, political economy, aesthetics, philosophy, and the arts. The journal features innovative, peer-reviewed political theorizing in the humanities and the social sciences, publishing academic essays as well as other forms of writing and representation—including polemics, photography, and moving images and sounds—that engage diverse political events and phenomena throughout the world. These may include such political formations as climate, sovereignty, territory, government, nation, race, family, gender, individual, capital and the state; old, new, and emerging forms of subjectivity as they may be expressed in elections, popular uprisings, affective flows and assemblages; old, new, and combined media formations; as well as investigations into the objects and conditions of politics, ethics, and critique. The journal encourages contributions that are both rigorous and lively, and that are attentive to scholarship without sacrificing creativity or timeliness.

Published 4 times per year in January, April, July, and October. Volume 26 (2023).

TWENTIETH-CENTURY CHINA

Twentieth-Century China publishes new research on China's long twentieth century. Originating in 1975 as a newsletter for experts in the discipline, Twentieth-Century China has grown into one of the leading English-language journals in the field of Chinese history. Articles in the journal, rigorously peer-reviewed, engage significant historiographic or interpretive issues and explore both continuities of the Chinese experience across the century and specific phenomena and activities within the Chinese cultural, political, and territorial sphere—including the Chinese diaspora—since the final decades of the Qing. Comparative empirical and/or theoretical studies rooted in Chinese experience may extend to areas outside China. The journal promotes a wide range of historical approaches in its examination of twentieth-century China (social, cultural, intellectual, political, economic, and environmental, among others) and is supported by an international editorial board of eminent scholars.

Published 3 times per year in January, May, and October. Volume 48 (2023).
